

My art, my life / by John Van Hamersveld

; edited by Dave Clucas

Description

A significant portal into an era I think most people alive today would just love to dive through and never return. Having personally lived and experienced the important social/cultural changes taking place in that particular time frame (1960s) and in that one particular location (Torrance Beach, Palos Verdes), triggers a great sense of pride in being one of the chosen cosmic children to say, "I was there. I saw it. I heard it. I felt the impact." Whether you are aficionado of surfing history, art, or music in that very special time, My Art/My Life is required reading, not to mention a highly collectable piece. In fact, this book should be required reading in all elementary schools, high schools, colleges and universities everywhere...it's that important.
