

The surf photography of Logan Murray /

by Logan Murray

Description

Logan Murray is the photographer whose name is synonymous with New Zealand surf culture. His images have served as the major representation of that special land, ocean and peoples to other members of the international surf tribe for the past 30 Years. With New Zealand being the dream escape for surfers of urbanized countries, Logan's images became their dream fodder.