

The Summer of '67 (DVD)

Description

It was the Summer of '67. We didn't know it then, but it was the end of an era. We were riding surfboards in the 9-10 foot range and the latest design innovation was the lightweight high performance board. Some as light as 22 lbs. But there were design changes brewing that would within one year, rock the sport and the industry to it's very foundation. But we didn't know or care about that. All we cared about was a glassy morning and some waves shared with some friends.
