

Crystal Voyager (DVD)

Description

The amazing story of George Greenough. In 1972 Crystal Voyager took us on a surreal journey deep inside the vortex of huge breaking waves where time enters a space, a zone of its own. The film became a cult hit throughout the world...The last 25 minutes is an almost unbroken underwater trip of a thousand translucent tints, accompanied by the electronic music of Pink Floyd pinging out of infinity like an echo sounder. to see it stone cold sober on a wintry morning is exhilarating. To see it "stoned" as I guess some surf freaks have, must be out of this world.
