

Know Fear - Maverick's Winter 98/99

(VHS)

Description

The 1998/99 La Nina year showed drastically changing weather patterns which produced violent storms all over the world. This once again drew the attention of the surfing world to the most consistent big wave surfing spot on the planet. Located south of San Francisco and just north of Half Moon Bay, Mavericks watched the best big wave riders in the world come to challenge its menacing fury.