

Early foam model.

Date

c. early-to-mid 1950's

Description

Harrison experimented with fins in the '30s and later with polyurethane foam. After marrying second wife, Cecilia, in 1940 and moving into her family's historic late 1700s cattle ranch in San Juan Capistrano, he began testing and collecting all forms of surf vehicles. The family barn grew into a museum tracing the evolution of watercraft through the middle of the century.
